Capstone: Advanced Studies in Rhetoric

Additional Resources

Title: COURSE RESOURCES Capstone courses operate at the college level and are post-AP courses; therefore, readings for this capstone are challenging selections, both in terms of lexicon and content. Additionally, some works may contain sensitive topics and mature language and content. During class students are expected to engage in respectful discussion involving a variety of perspectives, some of which may be in contrast to personal experiences, beliefs, and/or affiliations. Students are not expected to share those perspectives with text; rather, they are learning to discern how perspectives are communicated and to better curate and design rhetoric that communicates their own ideas and analysis. The following resources (text, audio/video, visual rhetoric) DO NOT NEED TO BE PURCHASED. With specificity, here is a list of works we may review, either in part or full, during the Capstone course: Blandine Calais-Germain Anatomy of Movement Norman M. Kaplan, MD Clinical Hypertension ; series: Unstable (Netflix); Joshua Rosenthal Integrative Nutrition: The Future of Nutrition Atul Gawande Complications: A Surgeon's Notes on an Imperfect Science Hildy Richelson Bonds: The Unbeaten Path to Secure Investment Growth James L. Adams Flying Buttresses, Entropy, and O-Rings: The World of an Engineer Laura Shapiro Instagram Your Leftovers: History Depends On It David Shields Words Can't Describe What I'm Feeling Idiocracy Henry David Thoreau Walden Henry David Thoreau Where I Lived, What I Lived For Scott Russell Sanders Hooks Baited with Darkness Annie Dillard Sight Into Insight 1974 Joan Didion On Keeping a Notebook 1968 Ken Iljunas Walden on Wheels Sue Monk Kidd Doing Nothing Ruth Marcus Crackberry Congress Nicholas Tampio Look Up from Your Screen Nicholas Carr Is Google Making Us Stupid? Sherry Turkle The End of Forgetting Jean M. Twenge Have Smartphones Destroyed a Generation? Jia Tolentino, from What It Takes to Put Away Your Phone Jacqueline Howard, This Is How the Internet Is Rewiring Your Brain Americans' Cell Phone Use during Social Activity (graph) Virginia Wolfe Death of a Moth Danny Chau The Burning Desire for Hot Chicken Music: In order to produce data-driven research, students in the course of Advanced Rhetoric will analyze music across time, geography, and within and between other categories. As noted previously, this is a post-AP course and there will be presented examples of mature, offensive, violent, and politicized language in text.
